PANDEMIC TO PANACEA: BIO-PSYCHO-SOCIAL STRATEGIES

A pandemic is an epidemic of an infectious disease that spreads across a large region affecting a substantial number of individuals. But, in the case of Covid-19, not just large number of individuals were affected but the entire world and in every aspect of our lives, causing widespread concern, stress, fear, and uncertainties. Experts say that even though we may overcome the pandemic, humanity needs to cope with the impact of the pandemic for many years to come.

This scenario demands a pro-active role and contribution of social scientists particularly psychologists, offering skills and strategies to cope up with such a pandemic scenario.

In this context, this international conference, adopting a bio-psycho-social perspective, aims to explore not just the challenges of the pandemic but also creative and efficient panacea in varied domains. It creates a confluence of academicians, scholars, practitioners, activists, and students to engage varied and inter-disciplinary discussions, explorations, researches, and responses to enhance the well-being of the society.

We invite your contributions in the following themes:

- Biological / Medical perspectives and strategies
- Physiological perspectives and strategies
- Psychological perspectives and strategies
- Sociological perspectives and strategies
- Ecological perspectives and strategies
- Multicultural perspectives and strategies
- Family perspectives and strategies
- Digital perspectives and strategies
- Philosophical perspectives and strategies
- Spiritual perspectives and strategies.
